Three project areas
Residential, Retail, Commercial & Public Developments
Endless Opportunities

The 2017 Annual Report for the Redevelopment Agency of Midvale City is prepared in accordance with Utah Code Section 17C-1-603. This report presents the assessed values and estimated tax increment for each of the Agency’s project areas. The report also provides an update on the investment of tax increment and private capital to promote economic development and provide housing within Midvale City.
The Bingham Junction Project Area encompasses 390 acres in the northwest corner of the City. It is bound by the Midvale City boundary on the north, 700 West/Holden Street on the east, 7800 South on the south and the Jordan River on the west. Historically, the property consisted of several smelters that processed ore from Bingham Canyon, Kennecott Copper, and other mines. The smelter activities provided an economic benefit for the region that stimulated the growth of Midvale. However, the operations led to contamination and the property being designated as a Superfund site. The Environmental Protection Agency oversaw major remediation of the property and the placement of institutional controls to manage future development which has since removed it from the National Priorities List. The collaborative efforts of Midvale City, private developers and the Redevelopment Agency have turned this former brownfield site into a successful model for redevelopment.

*Nearly Completed  Planned
Consisting of a four-story senior-living project, as well as 67 single-family detached homes and a Pioneer Memorial Park, the northwest corner of Holden street and 7800 S is undergoing a massive transformation. While the single-family project is still under construction, the senior living project and the memorial park were completed earlier this year. Senior living is in great demand in the valley, and the project was fully leased almost immediately upon completion.
Tru by Hilton (Midvale) will be located at the northeast corner of Bingham Junction Blvd. and River Gate Dr. Wadsworth Development Group plans to break ground in the Fall of 2017, with a completion date in the Fall of 2018. The hotel will be 4 stories, with 61,000 square feet, 114 rooms, and an outdoor pool and patio. Tru hotels have an iconic design that will complement the architecture in the Project area. The Tru by Hilton will be the second hotel of this type in Utah and will be the project area’s third hotel.
The current Bingham Junction Public Art installation will be completed in the spring of 2018. The selected artist is Day Christensen. Christensen will be erecting a welcome feature for our newly completed Bingham Junction Park. The piece, titled “Flora”, will be a fifteen-foot tall plant, and will be constructed out of stainless steel. Christensen is an accomplished Utah artist that has installations throughout the valley.
West Midvale was once the core of commerce and employment in Midvale, as well as a major hub of activity for the Salt Lake Valley. As the home of major ore processing and refining, residential neighborhoods and businesses were established to meet the needs of the employees that called Midvale home. These strong neighborhoods contributed to a thriving Main St. that was the heart of the community, and included specialty shops, department stores, entertainment venues, and financial institutions.

As ore processing slowed to a stop, so did much of the economic activity in West Midvale. Following nearly five decades of stagnation, West Midvale began a sustained comeback in 2004, with the creation of the Bingham Junction and Jordan Bluffs redevelopment project areas. Through public/private partnerships, new leaders of the 21st Century economy have risen from the remains of early 20th Century industry. Overstock.com, CHG, Savage, FLSmith, and Intermountain Healthcare have contributed to a diversified industrial sector, as well as hiring a large number of employees that contribute to the local economy. A strong industrial core is once again being followed by the construction of new neighborhoods. Over the past five years, new hotels, restaurants, grocery stores, and entertainment venues have been built, contributing to a new vibrancy in the community. Given the growth in the Bingham Junction Project Area, the redevelopment of the currently vacant Jordan Bluffs Project Area, and the revitalization of the newly created Main Street Project Area, West Midvale will once again become a neighborhood of opportunity for Midvale residents.

For nearly 80 years, the Sharon Steel site was the heart of industry in Midvale. When ore processing and milling ended on the site in 1971, nearly 10% of Midvale was rendered unusable. Now, following 13 years of careful work on the part of the Redevelopment Agency of Midvale City, Environmental Protection Agency, and the Utah Department of Environmental Quality, Jordan Bluffs is on the verge of a rebirth that will make it the center of growth and industry in Midvale.

In 2015, the RDA entered into an Option to Purchase Agreement with the current owners of Jordan Bluffs. During the option period, the Agency publicly marketed the site for private acquisition and development. At the conclusion of this process, the Agency entered into a Purchase Agreement with KC Gardner Company, L.C. It is anticipated that the developer will acquire the property in late 2017, with development to begin in 2018. In addition to new commercial and residential development, the site will also include an extension of Bingham Junction Boulevard and other infrastructure improvements.

The Agency is currently working with the taxing entities and its consultant to develop a strategy and budget that will lead to the success of the Main Street project area. The area will incorporate Midvale’s historic Main Street, as well as the surrounding residential and commercial areas. The RDA’s goal in creating this project area is to strengthen this part of the community by stabilizing the housing stock, upgrading infrastructure, improving parking, as well as rehabilitating and redeveloping commercial uses. The Agency hopes to achieve these things by implementing property improvement programs for both commercial and residential properties, investing in street improvements, and property acquisition.
